

A MATTER OF TASTE

BREAKFAST IN BERLIN

Begin with breakfast at the Café am Neuen See in the Tiergarten. In summer, there's a view across the lake from the terrace, while in winter the crackling fire and rustic interior create an atmosphere so cosy you won't want to leave. But do, because a walk in the park is simply perfect at any time of year.

'DOWN THE HATCH' IN DÜSSELDORF

A real Düsseldorf experience is to be had at Zum Schlüssel, one of the oldest traditional brewing houses in the city. Large portions of local home-style cooking are served with 'Schlüssel', their own micro-brewed beer.

AS YOU LIKE IT

In keeping with its history, at Steinernes Haus (named after the 500-year old Stone House in which the inn is located), the signature dish here is steak that you cook yourself at your table on a hot lava stone. For those who prefer that the restaurant does the cooking, there's also an extensive menu of local dishes.

BERLIN ABOVE AND BELOW

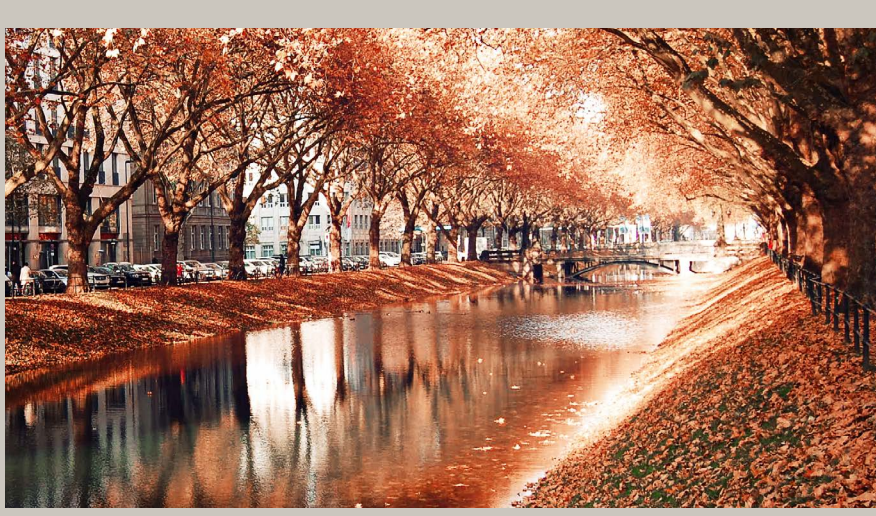

Berlin below street level is like a Swiss cheese - head underground to explore the huge network of Cold War bunkers and Second World War air raid shelters. Then, when the underworld charm wears off, head for the 100m viewing platform at Potsdamer Platz for the best vantage point in town.

EAST MEETS WEST

Did you know that Düsseldorf has the world's 3rd largest Japanese community outside Japan? Around Immermannstraße you'll find a huge variety of authentic Japanese stores and eateries serving the noodle soups that will transport you straight to Tokyo!

FRANKFURT - BIRTHPLACE OF A LITERARY GIANT

Take a walk along the river Main to Römerberg Square, the medieval hub of the picturesque Old Town, to find City Hall, the Römer. Then continue walking to Paulsplatz, where you'll find the beautifully restored birthplace of Johann Wolfgang Goethe, Germany's famous writer and poet.

A PARTING GIFT

SHOPPING, AND MORE SHOPPING

Zeil is one of the oldest streets in Frankfurt, and one of Germany's most famous shopping areas. MyZeil is a futuristic 8-floor mall sure to keep even the keenest shopper happy for hours, but if you start flagging, head for the roof garden at Zeilgalerie to enjoy the view while you recharge.

A FASHION INSTITUTION

Königsallee, or "Kö", as we call it, is an elegant boulevard with romantic bridges. But it's also known as 'luxury mile', as it's lined with designer stores and boutiques. Fashion lovers head to classic but unconventional Eickhoff to discover what's hip next season.

DISCOVER NEW DESIGNERS

Bikini Berlin lays claim to being the world's first concept shopping mall, focusing on individual experiences, greater sustainability and environmental awareness. Its modular pop-up units allow young designers to present their creations to the world – and you to find something different and special.
